

EARTHCHECK

Brand style guide

MARCH 2024

A brand is more than a logo.

A brand is a well-rounded presence which is applied consistently across all touch points. It helps customers identify us and leads to a feeling or perception in the eyes of our customers.

General tips

Ensure your text formatting and design is clear and uncluttered.

Use inspiring, high quality and relevant imagery.

Avoid images that are heavily edited, 'glossy' or look like obvious stock imagery.

Are you using the correct colours and fonts?

Is everything legible?
Check font size image quality and contrast.

Has the logo been applied correctly?

Colour palette

This colour palette has been pulled directly from the logomark for visual consistency.

A combination of this palette should be used across all designs to maintain brand consistency.

01 Zilla Slab

Headings, sub-headings & feature sentences

02 Segoe UI

Sub-headings, feature sentences and body copy.

03 Noto Sans

Sub-headings, feature sentences and body copy.

Typeface

The EarthCheck brand uses three typefaces.

'Zilla Slab' is applied in different weights for interest. It has been chosen for its sophisticated look and friendly approachability. It should be used in sentence case, not CAPS.

'Segoe UI' is being used for sub-headings, call to actions and feature sentences. This typeface is also being used for the achievement badges.

'Noto' is the typeface we recommend body copy that may be translated. This typeface has been specially formulated for ease of legibility and can host over 1,000 languages.

The 'Thesis Sans' typeface is only used within the logo.
